

FEARFUL STORY
FROM FLORIDANone of the Missing Vessels Yet Accounted For.

LIST IN CEDAR KEYS GROWS

Twenty-Eight Bodies Have Been Recovered There.

STATE YIELDS ONE HUNDRED DEAD

Description of the Terrible Tidal Wave Given by an Eyewitness.
The Living, Homeless, Half-Starved, Envy the Lifeless.Jacksonville, Fla., October 2.—(Special).—As reports of the work of the storm come in they show conclusively that never before has the fury of the elements wrought such destruction of life and property in this state.The death list on land, counted by bodies recovered, will easily reach 100 now, and it is certain that it will largely exceed this number when all the truth is known.There is no way of accurately estimating the property lost, but no estimate places it under $2,000,000, while many place it at double that amount.The chief interest centers in the condition of Cedar Keys, for there the hurricane entered the state and the ravages of the wind were augmented by the horrors of fire and flood. Advice from Cedar Keys today state that the destruction of property was not exaggerated and the news as first told exclusively in these dispatches is very near the mark.The town has been practically wiped out, the property less being estimated at thousands of dollars. The death list, too, in that ill-fated town is growing. Last night it was reported at twenty; today's reports swell it to twenty-eight.Of the twenty-eight dead only the following names can be learned:
BRADSHAW CAMPBELL, colored.
SAM GAUSE, white.
MRS. CHARLES DOAR AND TWO CHILDREN, white.
SAM ROBINSON, white.
GEORGE HAVENS, white.
GRAUN HAVENS, white.
HENRY HAVENS, white.
MRS. BECHMAN, white.Twenty-eight victims met their death in Cedar Keys proper, and to them must be added the corpses of fourteen unknown spongers washed ashore on the coast below the town.The fate of the hundred spongers and fishing craft, anchored off the bar below Cedar Keys, is not yet certainly known, but there can be no doubt that the larger portion of the schooners went down with all hands.No such frail craft could have lived in such a wind as came snorting over the gulf on that fateful morning.Then, too, the night was still and the sleeping spongers were entirely unconscious of danger. The hurricane came with such awful suddenness that there was no time to prepare the vessels to meet the shock.Parties who went out to the Cedar Keys har today report that they saw the masts of five schooners protruding just above the water.It is believed by watermen at Cedar Keys that the fate of these five schooners was the fate of the majority of the sponging fleet.EYEWITNESS TELLS OF IT.
Many of the schooners were undermanned and their crews will be found later on. The wrecks of the Gertrude and the Rosalie were reported yesterday and the wrecks of four more schooners were found today down the coast.In the cabin of the Gertrude were found the bodies of eight men who were drowned while they were asleep.Mr. W. H. Anderson, one of Cedar Keys most prominent citizens, describes the tidal wave as the most awful sight he ever witnessed. Mr. Anderson was in the upper story of his house, looking seaward, about 7 o'clock.He says that the waters of the gulf at that time did not seem to be alarmingly high, but in an instant there was a change and a wall of foamy water came plunging over the town.The buildings, already shattered by the gale's fury, went down like sticks. It was soon over, but in the few minutes that the wave lasted it had done irreparable damage. Those places left standing at Cedar Keys have mud in them several feet deep.
Some of the rooms are almost filled with mud.Mr. Anderson says that he had no adequate conception of the meaning of the word "horror" until he saw that giant wall of water rise up from the gulf and fall upon the town.The reports from other points in the track of the storm are just as bad as those from Cedar Keys, differing only in the number of the dead. Levy county has been devastated and the citizens of Bronson report over 200 families homeless and without food.The people of Bronson who were but slightly injured are doing all in their power to aid the unfortunate, but their means are wholly inadequate and an appeal for help has been issued.

BISHOP NELSON WRITES OF THE TERRIBLE STORM.

Tells How Five Churches Were Destroyed in Forty Minutes.
Drawing Made by the Bishop.Editor Constitution.—Pray, allow me space to tell your readers of our recent disaster from the West India cyclone which swept over southeast Georgia on the 25th of September.It may be, but we have never known or heard, that the bishop of any diocese lost seven of his churches in forty minutes.
All are familiar with the havoc created at Cedar Keys, Brunswick, Savannah, St.
Simon's island and the country from Waycross to Savannah, and have read of the traffic blocked, valuable forests laid even with the ground, rice plantations frittered destroyed and devastation for miles and miles.None, however, will learn, without my telling, what destruction was wrought among the poor struggling churches on the coast.Upon learning of the storm, and knowing the location, I immediately went to Brunswick, the center of the district, to see for myself. Poor Brunswick, which saw the boom-bubble pricked and burst; then the furniture and the laying waste of its population; a year later conflagration licked up valuable portions of the town; this time the cyclone nearly finished the work.
It was the first time I ever fully understood the meaning of the term "the bosom of destruction." I found it here among my own people in the laying waste of our churches. We did not, praised be God, lose one life amid all the horrors of that one short hour. On the feast of St. Michael, a day to most of us calm and bright, crisp and delicious, with the breath of early autumn, the storm-god seemed to be let loose along our coast.The Church of the Transfiguration, St.
Simon's beach, was almost ruined; St.
Ignatius, St. Simon's mills, was utterly demolished; the chapel at the Mills, a badly damaged; St. Cyril's, Darien, was crushed out of existence; Messiah, Owen's ferry, was injured; St. Athanasius, Brunswick, was closed in two and one-half laid on the ground, while the large building for the education of the negroes, with its miracles and equipment, was shivered to atoms, and a great live oak lay athwart one of our dwelling houses; St. Jude's was twisted like a piece of putty, completely out of shape, and the tower, which represented much effort and sacrifice, destroyed; St. Bartholomew's, Chatham county, was wrecked, and lost all of our beautiful new St. Mark's church, Brunswick's Ogeechee mission, just completed and paid for, the hope for four years and the delight of our poor coast negroes for one short fortnight, was in ruins. Mr. McConnell and I werepresent on October 1st to consecrate it;
the people were gathered for many miles to see the finest building they had ever beheld, and to unite in the unique ceremonies of the day. Judge of our dismay to find floors, ceiling and spire mingled in one indiscriminate mass of broken boards and splinters for kindling, swept ten feet away from the foundation. Though some giant had lifted it up a hundred feet or so and then dropped it. It was simply pitiful.
We sang "Blest be the tie" and read psalm 66, kneeling down in the sand, and said the Lord's Prayer, rose up and recited the creed, and I then gave them such words of cheer and hope as I could with great effort summon in such a moment. I was even rash enough to promise them that by February 1, 1897, their church should be rebuilt.What can I do but throw myself upon the loving generosity of those who have helped me before and others like them?
While I waited for the train to take me away from the scene of destruction, one of my men, unbidden, broke out into a lament: "My father die in my house, he head in my lap, den ain' no water in my eye, I de chong de road Chuesday, I luk fo' de chong, dey ain' no chong dar, water come in my eye same as I see. De 'nomen roun' clean up dat chech, make it nice fo' de pahson, dey ain' no chech, all 'nomen dey set an' look an' water come in de eye like somebody don' dait."So we shall worship in old St. Mark's, with the sun glistering thro' the chinks and the wind whistling through the floor, amid the graves of the old hymns parents and children, sing the old hymns until we can once more raise our new church—de pride of all that country.Seven thousand dollars will not replace what we have lost. I do not expect miracles to help us out, but I do hope for a share of the sweet, charity which cannot remain unmoved while nearly one-tenth of our places of worship are laid in ruins, and the people are left without a place to worship. I shall gladly accept of the gift of the people, and I shall gladly accept of the gift of the people, and I shall gladly accept of the gift of the

DISCUSSION THE DISCOVERY BROUGHT ABOUT

What Is Going on at Democratic Headquarters—A Seab Wright Phase.

"Well, here is a good thing. Just look at this, will you?"

The speaker was one of the most prominent democrats of middle Georgia. He was sitting in the headquarters of the democratic state committee at the Kimball yesterday afternoon and had in his hand a copy of The People's Party Paper just issued.

"What do you think of this, anyhow?" he continued. "Just look at it, page after page and see what it consists in. Why the paper is absolutely made up of attacks on the democratic party republished from The Atlanta Journal."

The others in the room had not seen the paper, but as they passed it around, expressions of indignation were heard on all sides.

"And not only that," remarked one of the gentlemen, who had an eye to the eternal fitness of things, "not only that, but they have used identically the same type and cuts which the Journal used. They seem to have lifted the articles bodily from The Journal forms and placed them in the form of their own paper. It is printed. It is as though for an alleged democratic paper to open its columns to these attacks on the party and its nominees, but to go even further and to give to the enemy every possible assistance in their power, does seem crowding the limit, even in an ex-official organ."

The matter was discussed at considerable length, and the criticisms of the paper in question was universal.

"There has been only one thing in this campaign which that paper has refused—that is one thing designed to hurt the party—and that was the statement of this man Martin. I now understand why they became so virtuous all of a sudden," said another of those who were taking part in the lively discussion. "Of course as Martin owed his position to the recommendation of the editor of The Journal they were afraid to print the story because of the possibility of having this fact told on them."

There was no sparing of words in the criticisms passed. They were all indignant.

Hon. A. E. Cochran, a prominent lawyer of San Francisco, who at one time represented Pierce county in the legislature, is visiting his old home in Georgia. He is a prominent lawyer, a wealthy and influential citizen and an active and enthusiastic democrat. In speaking of the political outlook he says that after having traveled through the western and the middle states he feels positive of the election of Bryan. He says Bryan will carry California overwhelmingly. The people are all for him out there and he expects a big majority for the democratic candidate.

"Experience yes. Experiment—yes, that is a good way to put it. Only it ought to be reversed."

He was a sixth ward business man, who was looking at the banner of the McKinley club which carries between the pictures of the republican nominees that motto—experience vs. experiment.

"They mean that McKinley is the representative of experience do they? Well, let's see about that. What has he done? He is a rather mediocre member of congress who happened to be chairman of the ways and means committee which made the tariff bill. His name was, therefore, tacked on to the bill. This tariff bill and the principles of extreme pandering to monopolies which it represented were promptly repudiated by the people at the first election following its enactment; and now the party, in its national convention and through its leaders, place themselves strongly on record as being opposed to that McKinley bill. Its author went home, was defeated for congress, but was elected governor. During his term he not only bankrupted himself, but came very near bankrupting his state. I do not charge that he was dishonest, but I do charge that he proved himself incompetent to manage his own affairs or the affairs of the state of Ohio. That's his experience."

Colonel W. R. Rankin, of Gordon county, who is an independent candidate for congress in the seventh congressional district, takes exception to a special sent from Rome, to The Constitution, in which speaking of Judge Maddox, there occurred this statement:

"His energy has tended to discourage his opponents, who have made but a few futile attempts to secure a hearing. On several occasions he has tried to get his various opponents to meet him on the stump, but they invariably refused at the last moment."

Colonel Rankin says that the "energy" which Judge Maddox has thrown into the canvass has in no wise tended to discourage him," and adds that he has filled every appointment at which he has been advertised and has had good audiences. He said: "If Judge Maddox ever desired to have me meet him on the stump, he has never communicated such desire to me. If I was unwilling, or afraid to meet Judge Maddox on the stump before the people of the district, I would hardly be a fit or worthy representative in congress. You may say for me that, if the judge wants a meeting with any of his various opponents on the stump, I am at his service and will not invariably refuse at the last moment. Indeed, you may say for me that the judge shall have the pleasure of meeting me on the stump before the campaign is over, or he must, at the last moment, refuse."

Chairman Clay speaks at Winder today, and it is understood that he will have some decidedly lively things to say about some of the campaign developments. Among the other speakers announced for today is the Hon. T. B. Felder, at Conyers.

On Monday, Governor Atkinson and Hon. N. J. Hammond will address the people of Floyd county at Rome. On the same day, Chairman Clay will address the people of Whitfield county at Dalton.

Among the meetings to be held on Tuesday, the day before the election, when things will be pretty hot all over the state, will be Governor Atkinson, at Newnan in the morning, and at Marietta at 9 o'clock in the evening, with A. C. Burt at Camilla and Hon. J. M. McBride at Carrollton.

"A campaign under the guise of prohibition is going on in DeKalb, but the disguise is a very thin one," said a prominent democrat from that county yesterday. "Seab Wright's followers have already laid in a supply of liquor in our vicinity, and they make no attempt to hide their purpose in the effort to get negro votes on election day."

BRYAN FEELS CERTAIN

He Wires the New York Morning Journal He Feels Assured of Victory.

New York, October 2.—The Journal this morning publishes the following signed statement from Candidate Bryan, predicting his victory a month before election:

"To W. R. Hearst, Journal, New York.

Cincinnati, O., October 2.—I have no doubt of my election, and I base my confidence upon the fact that the free coinage sentiment is growing every day. "The people are studying the money question, and the study of it is convincing the people that there can be no permanent prosperity so long as the gold standard is maintained."

"The gold standard makes a deader dollar; a deader dollar means falling prices and falling prices means hard times."

"The people who profit by hard times are relatively so few in number that they would amount to nothing at all but for the fact that they are aided by a considerable number of people who, not having studied the money question themselves, have received instructions from a few financiers."

"The number of republicans who have declared for free silver outnumbers the democrats who have deserted the ticket, and while the number of silver republicans is increasing all the time, the number of bolting democrats is all the time decreasing."

"While I have no doubt as to my election, I believe that every advocate of free coinage should work from now to election day to make the majority in the electoral college so large that no party hereafter will even dare to propose submission to a foreign financial policy."

W. J. BRYAN.

REPUBLICANS FOR BRYAN

BIG POLITICAL RALLY HELD AT GREENSBURG, IND.

Governor Matthews Made a Vote-Winning Address and Was Then Given a Grand Reception.

Greensburg, Ind., October 2.—(Special.)—The grandest political meeting held in this county was held here yesterday, it being a big all-day meeting with several thousand people present. Governor Claude Matthews made an address. Hon. W. E. Evered, of Columbus, and Rev. Walter Campbell, of Rushville, a former republican who resigned his church to take the stump for Bryan and free silver also spoke.

At night a grand reception was given Governor Matthews. The large headquarters held but a small portion of the vast crowd which turned out. The grand opera house was used and only half the crowd gained entrance there. The rally was a grand success in this republican stronghold and the meetings were very enthusiastic.

Democracy will carry the county for the first time in years. More than two hundred republicans gave pledges of their support to Bryan and free silver.

COLEMAN GIVEN FORTY YEARS.

Alabama Kills His Rival and Will Serve a Long Term.

Selma, Ala., October 2.—(Special.)—Judge Coleman was found guilty today in the circuit court of murder in the first degree, and sentenced to forty years hard labor.

In July of last year he killed Anthony Smith, eighteen years of age.

Bolt was in love with Annie Moore. Smith was walking with her Sunday afternoon. Coleman followed him and pushing between the two shoved his rival back and walked on with the girl. A knife ensued and Coleman plunged a knife into Smith's abdomen. Coleman was arrested the following day. The murder was tried and was captured three weeks ago in Marengo county. He is twenty years of age and should live will be sixty years when he serves out his time.

GIANT MOONSHINER CAPTURED.

Maker of Illicit Standing Six Feet and Seven Inches.

Nashville, Tenn., October 2.—(Special.)—Revenue officers yesterday captured the giant moonshiner of the mountains. His name is Josiah Bartlett. He is only twenty-seven years of age, but is six feet seven inches tall and weighs 270 pounds.

General Deputy Collector W. G. Rutledge led the party that made the capture. The party arrived at Bartlett's still about 4 o'clock and waited for his arrival at 7, when they surrounded and took him. The still was located near Aveton, Putnam county, and was destroyed with a large quantity of singling and beer. Another still in the same neighborhood was also destroyed. Bartlett was held on $750 bond, and will be tried next April.

ARE UP IN ARMS AGAINST BUCK

shown that he knows no man that commits crime by his commission at the hands of the man that can produce this condition of affairs deserves the thanks and support of all good citizens. With foes within and foes without he has been a constant combatant afflictions and persecutions at the same time directing the ship of state as no other Georgian ever did. He has fought, as it were, death, hell and the devil and has come out all the last. And all that Colonel Buck can do with his latter day circular can't prevent the consummation of the last effort, as he would be polluting his hands with the populist candidate by 40,000 majority. I regret Colonel Buck loses prestige by his course. We have not much party in Georgia now, and if our chairman splinters around at the present rate the sound money democrats will take the place of the republicans before six months.

"We have registered 30,000 negro republicans; there have been registered 20,000 white voters. Let us say we have 40,000 white republicans and add the 30,000 negro republicans voters to the 40,000 white republicans voters, we have 70,000. What is the matter with electing something ourselves? Our friends seem to want nothing except 'dress parades.' Go to the polls and let the world know that though we may respect Colonel Buck, we are not running campaigns by one man circulars.

"Colonel Buck is no more than any other republican by his circular, as he does not sign it officially."

"W. A. PLEDGER."

What Johnson Says.

H. L. Johnson, who was elected a delegate from the state at large to the St. Louis convention and who has been active since then, returned to Atlanta yesterday from south Georgia, where he has been making speeches in behalf of Governor Atkinson.

In regard to the Buck circular he said: "It will have practically no effect on the campaign. The negroes have made up their minds how they will vote and no circular from Colonel Buck or any other republican can change them from their purpose."

"I found that Mr. Wright did not have a ghost of a chance for success in Mr. Turner's old district."

"In the first place, the negroes will not vote for the populist candidate because they have been thrown down by Watson too often in the past to play any game in him now. Governor Atkinson will certainly receive not less than 75,000 of the 90,000 colored votes registered."

"In the wiregrass region where I have made a careful inspection of the political conditions and have delivered many speeches I am sure Governor Atkinson will receive four-fifths of the entire negro vote. They will support him as a matter of course, innocent, not guilty, negroes; because he has the courage of his convictions and dares to do right."

"They will not vote for Mr. Wright because he is an experiment, while Governor Atkinson has been tried and not found wanting. They will not support Wright because his associates who have made promises to the negroes are broken without provocation. Mr. John Temple Graves is not popular with the negroes on account of his proposition, advocated in his lectures throughout the union, to transport the negroes bodily from this country. They resent this very strongly."

"Colonel Buck's circular is not well advised. It will result in a meaningless attempt. The intelligent negroes of Georgia know that there is far more to be gained by supporting the republican than by siding against the negroes in the populist camp than in the democratic."

Republican Editor's Views.

A. A. Gordon, editor of The Atlanta Reporter, is another of the influential negroes who places the republican state central committee above Colonel Buck and believes the circular will have no influence upon the intelligent colored men of the state. The following card was received from him last night:

"Editor Constitution: I have read a copy of the circular signed by Colonel Buck advising the republicans of Georgia to support Mr. Wright in the state election. I am sorry that there is far more to be gained by taking this position when he has already declared that all republicans should vote as they saw best in this campaign."

"The republican state central committee, of which Colonel Buck is chairman, issued an address to the republicans throughout the state in which it gave freedom of action to the colored man. Now Colonel Buck comes with a great circular taking a position that does not warrant good faith in him as a safe leader and adviser. Why didn't Colonel Buck advise the colored man to support Mr. Wright a few weeks ago? Why does he do it now?"

"It has been generally charged that Colonel Buck, of Georgia, owns all the negroes in Georgia. This is not true, and the colored voter will prove at the polls Wednesday that he has some manhood at least. Colonel Buck will have to respect."

State Committee's Decision Final.

"The ruling of the state central committee was final, and the people should know that the people rule in America and not self-constituted committees. If Colonel Buck is not the republican party of Georgia."

"It is well and easy for a white man in Georgia to play the republican, and sit upstairs in an office and say what the negroes should do; but the time has come when we must form political alliances beneficial to the people. This was one of the main objects why the state central committee left us free to act, that we might strike for the betterment of the bulk of the people in Georgia—the colored people."

"In view of the fact that the committee passed upon this matter as it did, some of the most responsible and respectable members of Georgia took up the cause of Governor Atkinson and have advocated his election from the stump. Among these are W. A. Pledger, H. L. Johnson, J. H. Reynolds, C. C. Wilkerson, T. M. Dent and a host of others. Now to entertain the least consideration of the recent circular would be very inconsistent. These men have too high honor and integrity to endorse such child's play."

Atkinson Has Been Feared.

"Governor Atkinson has done for the colored man what his duty and Christian heart demanded. He is true, patriotic and fair, regardless of race. His every action has been fair and impartial."

"This is a time when the colored men of this state should show their gratitude towards a man who has dealt so fairly with them."

"When Governor Atkinson was looking forward to better and humane treatment of the state convicts, Mr. Seab Wright was arguing a case in the courthouse at Rome before a jury upon which was a colored man of the jury, because there was a colored man on the jury, which would have necessitated Mr. Wright addressing the colored man as a gentleman. The colored people used to be fooled, but it is different now. We have looked well, and our best interest is to vote for a man who, at least, has done his duty and given aid and comfort to the people."

FEARFUL STORY FROM FLORIDA

over Alachua, Columbia, Bradford, Suwannee and Baker counties, skipped Duval and Jacksonville, dropped down and devastated Nassau county and passed out into Georgia by 10 o'clock.

In five and a half hours the hurricane had devastated six populous counties and was gone up the Atlantic coast on its mission of wrathful, wanton destruction.

Six hours after the storm entered the state the sun was shining as it can only shine in Florida, but it was shining on 100 or more corpses, scores of wrecked towns and villages, devastated rural districts and 12,000 homeless men, women and children.

BRUNSWICK IS SHORT ON TIN

ENTERPRISING CITIZENS HAVE SENT FOR MORE ROOFING.

Additional Reports from the Surrounding Counties Show Much Suffering There.

Brunswick, Ga., October 2.—(Special.)—Men, women and children are working in Brunswick clearing up the wreckage from the storm and teams are being used effectively to clear the streets and various thoroughfares for traffic.

Live business at the night of the storm for Atlanta and returned yesterday with dealers in roofing of different descriptions. They have made a complete canvass of the city and it is probable that the days of tin roofs here are numbered, and in future wood, paper and other material will be used. At present there is not a shingle of available tin in Brunswick. At the unroofed houses are in bad condition on this account. Every possible precaution has been taken to clear the stocks of goods from the stores.

Hon. Thomas W. Lamb reached the city from his country home today and brought a story of wreck and ruin throughout Glynn county. Houses are down, fences laid low, crops beaten to pieces and general disaster prevails. The rice plantations lost heavily. Very little of this season's crop had been gathered. Both in the city and county general rejoicing is felt that the loss of life is no greater. Brunswick will be dark for several days for lack of electricity. The plant is demolished and gas is available only in small quantities.

The fire alarm system is being worked for the first time since the storm. The fire alarm system is being worked for the first time since the storm. The fire alarm system is being worked for the first time since the storm.

At Cressen Island the unused mill property of all descriptions is badly damaged. Mr. Jacob L. Beach and family returned from Asheville yesterday. On opening their house the contents were found damaged $2,000 worth. It is a large residence and elegantly furnished. The roof is almost entirely gone and water poured through the rooms and halls in torrents.

The destruction to trees and shrubbery in the park is greatly regretted. It was the most beautiful of Brunswick's many parks.

The collapsed tank on the water tower was not able to play the water, and the public school buildings are open and the outpouring of pupils began under fair circumstances. Superintendent Franklin and a corps of teachers are on hand and rapidly getting things in good shape.

W. J. Seabright, of Brunswick, shows a good increase in her shipping record. The total commerce over waterways was $1,246,100. The foreign exports were $222,222 against $15,707 for September, 1895. Domestic exports were $44,869 against $27,443 of September, 1895. The imports are $116,400, against $126,000 in 1895.

TOWNS AND CAMPS CUT OFF

SETTLEMENTS ON OKEFNOKEE SWAMP UNREACH FROM.

People of the Storm-Swept Country in Distress Condition and an Appeal for Aid Is Made.

Waycross, Ga., October 2.—(Special.)—The Suwannee Canal Company's town of Camp Cornelia and Brooks Bros.' town of Toledo, and hundreds of persons are employed in turpentine and saw work, have not as yet been heard from. There is no means of communication with these places and with Dyal and Upchurch's lumber and southeastern borders of the Okefnokee swamp and in the track of the storm.

Persons in Waycross who have friends and relatives at these places are in great suspense and anxiety.

The damage to timber in those neighborhoods will hardly be less than a calamity. It has been estimated that the Dyal and Upchurch Company, the Brooks Bros. and the Suwannee Canal Company will sustain a loss in the aggregate of $10,000 in timber. The farmers, in addition to the loss of the houses, crops and cattle, lost their fences, and their fields will have to be rebuilt. The work of rebuilding and repairing houses will be delayed in most cases, and definitely because of the lack of means and the impassable condition of the roads to the sawmills. H. J. Davis, a business man of Hilliard, has circulated the following appeal in Waycross and a relief fund has been started.

"I have been appointed one of a committee to ask for and receive any help that the people will give to the sufferers of this section from Tuesday's storm. At least thirty, and perhaps more, families in this vicinity are left homeless. They are almost without food, all of their belongings being swept before the wind. There never was in this section anything to equal this storm and the damage done. The people must have help or I cannot tell what will become of them."

This is no worse condition than exists at Folkston, Boulton and Dyal. R. C. King, of this city, is in charge of the relief fund for the sufferers.

CHARLTON AND CAMDEN SUFFER

Winds Leveled Houses and Destroyed Crops Throughout that Section.

Waycross, Ga., October 2.—(Special.)—The destitute condition of the sufferers from the storm in Charlton and Camden counties, Georgia, and along the line of the Plant system, in Nassau county, Florida, appeals to the sympathy of the people of this section who escaped the ravages of the hurricane of last Tuesday.

A trip over the Plant system line between Waycross and Jacksonville revealed only a partial view of the storm-swept region, but that gave to the eyes of the passenger numerous scenes of a most pathetic character.

The greatest devastation on the line of the road was between Folkston and Callahan. The one fine timber forest that skirted the road between those points was leveled by the wind and present a prairie-like appearance. As far as the eye can see on either side of the railroad the timber is ruined and the ground is literally strewn with logs and debris. Homes are in ruins and household effects are scattered around the place. Many families are sitting on the ruins of their houses, lamenting their misfortunes. Children cling to their mothers and weep because they are homeless and hungry.

The spectacle is at once pathetic and terrible.

At Folkston, Boulton, Hilliard and Dyal, the sufferers are gathered at the depot and look forlorn and wretched. The children are sad and thoughtful-looking, lacking their wanted gaiety. There is no romping and playing among them and their mothers look tenderly and wistfully in their sad faces.

Every mile of public road in that section is blocked with from 500 to 1,000 logs, besides huge heaps of debris. The result of the storm in the rural districts will not be ascertained for several days, and whether there remains to be reported still further loss of life and destruction and homes and timber is not known.

CLOUDBURST DESTROYS A TOWN

Bisbee, Arizona, With Its 2,500 Inhabitants, Washed Away.

Tucson, Ariz., October 2.—A report has just been received here that the mining town of Bisbee, Ariz., containing 2,500 inhabitants, has been almost entirely washed out by a cloudburst.

The telegraph wires are down and the report cannot be verified, but a serious disaster is feared, as the town is located in a narrow canyon which offers little chance of escape from floods.

Further meager reports from Benson confirm the death of Mrs. Ashburn and her children, Mrs. Zok and her two boys and four Mexicans. The wires are still down and the railway tracks are washed out in many places.

FIRE IN A WHOLESALE HOUSE

TIDWELL & POPE'S PLACE ON MITCHELL STREET DAMAGED.

Blaze Shooting Through a Sky Light Promised a Big Fire. The Loss About $1,500.

An alarm of fire was turned in from box No. 34 at 3:30 o'clock this morning. It was located in Tidwell & Pope's wholesale house, on Mitchell street.

When the blaze was first seen the interior of the office was in a full bright light, and before the department could respond to the alarm the flames had eaten up through the inflammable boxes of goods and were sweeping through the roof.

The building is a one-story structure and is separated into two stores, both occupied by Tidwell & Pope. They are Nos. 27 and 29. Both rooms were stocked with goods and the flood of water necessary to extinguish the fire did more damage than the fire itself.

At first it looked like the entire block was doomed. The block is composed of old, dry buildings, food for a good fire, but Joyce's luck was with him and in a few minutes he had the fire under control.

The damage to the building and stock will probably amount to $1,500. The fire is supposed to have been caused by a gas jet left burning, coming in contact with some papers.

Blacksmith's Temper Causes Him To Slay Ten-Year-Old Lad.

Nashville, Tenn., October 2.—(Special.)—A man named Stringfield, living near Gold-Pond, Trigg county, Ky., was attempting to shoe a wild mule, in a passion, grabbed a large stick and struck at the animal. The mule avoided the blow and the club struck Stringfield's brother, a lad of ten years, standing by, killing him instantly. Stringfield is nearly crazed with grief.

HOTEL FIRE IN PELL CITY, ALA.

St. Charles Hotel Destroyed and Guests Narrowly Escaped.

Anniston, Ala., October 2.—(Special.)—The St. Charles hotel, at Pell City, was destroyed by fire last night. None of the furniture or other household effects were saved, and the proprietor and his family with several guests barely escaped with their lives. The hotel was a twenty-room structure, and was valued at $10,000. It is not known how the fire started.

Lexington, Ky., October 2.—(Special.)—Major Morgan, ex-Mayor of Athens, Ga., now a prominent horseman of this country, had a fight this afternoon on East Main street with H. E. Kelly, the well-known trotting horse driver.

He was passed over a financial discussion and Kelly struck at the major, who dodged and escaped the blow and then pummeled Kelly in prize-fight style.

Baltimore, Md., October 2.—The first game of the Temple cup series of 1896 was played at Union Park this afternoon, and after a remarkably brilliant exhibition, it was placed to the credit of the champions by the score of seven to one. The weather conditions were most favorable, but only 2,965 paid their entrance fee to the grounds.

Captain Tebeau sprained his back badly while at the bat in the second inning and retired from the game. He suffered intensely and may not play again for some time.

McGraw also left the game in its early stage. He was not strong enough to stand the nerve-racking strain. The Baltimoreans played with confidence and dash and in two innings hammered Young freely. In the third inning the Baltimoreans scattered his wares. He suffered intensely and may not play again for some time.

Two of them, single and double, came in the sixth inning and gave the Spiders their only run.

Both teams were effectively welcomed when they came on the field, the visitors being the more warmly greeted.

Tebeau announced at the grounds that he would certainly be up for tomorrow's game. Haddon would not commit himself, but Corbett is his probable selection.

WORKERS ON GOLD PAPERS POLLED

More Than Three-Fourths of Them Are for the Democratic Nominee. Armour's Generosity Discovers to Him the Vote of His Men.

Chicago, October 2.—(Special).—The most encouraging news has come from all points to the democratic headquarters during the past week. The outlook is better today than it has been at any time since Bryan's nomination. The democratic cause has made tremendous strides in the middle western states—the fighting ground of this campaign.

The democratic campaign fund has been largely increased and the managers are now flooding these middle western states with quantities of literature and posters, all of which are having good effect.

Senator Jones has just returned from the east after a conference with Senator Gorman and Senator Faulkner and brings the most encouraging news.

It is the republican programme to buy these middle western states, but they can't do it. They may pay for several hundred thousand votes, but under the Australian ballot system, they have no assurance of the delivery of the same.

Unless all signs fail Illinois will be found in the democratic column on the third of November. A special poll of the state made by the Hanna committee gives the democrats the state outside of Cook county. The realization of this on the part of the republicans has caused consternation at the Hanna headquarters and they are making tremendous efforts to carry Cook county. But they can't do it. Every labor organization in the city is supporting the democratic ticket, and almost every labor leader is on the stump for Bryan and McKinley.

These men without exception predict a democratic majority of 30,000 in Cook county. True, many workmen in large factories are wearing McKinley badges, but they are reporting to their organizations that they wear them in order to keep their jobs; that they will vote for Bryan on election day.

Of all the great newspapers in Chicago but one is supporting Bryan. That is an afternoon paper and it is doing good work. The morning papers and the other afternoon papers are vicious in their antagonism; so vicious indeed that they will print no news which is the least favorable to the democratic candidate.

While these papers are for McKinley and the gold standard, 80 per cent of the men who are working on them are for Bryan. The democratic press committee has just made a poll of the editors, reporters and printers of the five great morning newspapers of Chicago with the following result:

Tribune..... Bryan..... 82
Record..... McKinley..... 15
Chronicle..... McKinley..... 10
Inter Ocean..... McKinley..... 13
Times-Herald..... McKinley..... 4

Total..... 317 44

This is a correct poll, and at the same time a word favorable to the Bryan campaign is every printed in any one of the papers.

If the men on the great papers which are exerting all efforts to the election of McKinley are themselves not convinced by the arguments their employers force them to print how can the general public be?

Since the advent of a professional company which has been playing in Atlanta for the last week, hypnotism as a science has been the subject of deep research and experiment by many who are interested in its mysteries.

Its mystifying effects were well impressed upon Mr. Henry Beermann Thursday morning, and his knowledge of the occult theories of divination and the black sciences is much broader than it was previous to an exciting chapter in which he figured as a semi-hypnotist of no mean ability.

"Hypnotism is all right, but it's the question of unhypnotizing that worries me," quoth Mr. Beermann.

A negro porter is employed in his store, on the corner of Peachtree and Marietta streets, whose diurnal duties consist of sweeping up the floors and dusting off show-cases. "Was while he dusted and swept that Mr. Beermann approached with a strange, green glitter in his eye.

"What yer gwine do, boss?"

"Keep in your track, and put your heels together, like this!"

A small crowd had gathered.

"What for you keep projekin' wid me lac dat, boss?" insisted the darky, assuming the required position.

"Now look at me straight in the eyes and think about sleep."

"Dat ain't hard to do, boss."

Mr. Beermann placed himself in front of the porter. His eyes were dilated with a Svengali gleam, and fixed with a stabbing stare upon the frightened optics of the darky. He extended his arms to full length, his fingers twitched convulsively, and his hands described the mysterious circles conducive to hypnotic sleep.

"Sleep! S-sleep! S-sleep! S-sleep!" murmured Mr. Beermann, in the guttural tones of the professional.

The face of the negro began to take on a vacant expression. His eyelids quivered, then closed tightly. The spell was on.

"You can't open your eyes—you can't open them!" said Mr. Beermann. There was a master effort on the part of the negro. His eyes remained closed.

Then followed numerous experiments practiced by the professionals. The porter was informed that the weather had turned suddenly colder. If he had been dropped at the north pole his shivering could not have been more intense.

"Now you are hot. You are burning up," quoth Mr. Beermann.

There was a laugh from the crowd. The negro jerked off his coat and the perspiration rolled from his eyes.

Other wonderful features were exhibited. The darky was given a chair and informed that he was astride a bicycle. He jumped on and began to pedal with alarming energy. Then he was made to converse through an imaginary telephone and perform various other tricks in his eyes.

Mr. Beermann at last decided that the exhibition had lasted long enough.

"When I count three," he said, "you will wake up, feeling fresh and none the worse for this exercise. Now, one—two—three!"

The negro remained motionless, with the same strange look in his eyes.

Mr. Beermann slapped his hands together and roared in the darky's ear.

There was no response. All efforts to make him come from under the spell were in vain.

"Wake up, you infernal idiot!"

Mr. Beermann was shouting himself hoarse. Several of the clerks were called in. They pounded the apathetic subject on the back. A bucketful of ice water was dashed into his face, but he waked not.

Then Mr. Beermann became alarmed. One of the clerks suggested that he should call a professional hypnotist. A hack was ordered and a messenger sent at a rapid speed.

It was some time before the hypnotist arrived. The negro had been under the hypnotic influence for an hour. Lee came summoned darky. He jumped, looked about with alarm and then awoke.

Mr. Beermann had decided to investigate the science more thoroughly before he attempts another experiment.

may buy votes but they won't stay bought.

To sum up the situation, the outlook at the close of September is of the most satisfactory character to the democratic managers. The silver cause has received a marked impetus during the last ten days.

From every state news has come that the farmers are now turning to Bryan and McKinley as standard, while in the cities the labor vote will be almost solidly cast for the silver nominee for president.

A poll of Kansas has just been completed by the allied free silver forces. It shows that the Bryan electors will have 50,000 majority in that state.

A similar poll of Kentucky shows that Bryan's majority will not be less than 30,000. It is estimated that 10,000 silver republicans will vote for Bryan, while the gold standardists will vote for McKinley. The remainder of his party for the state are with us with will offset the Palmer and Buckner democrats and win the state by the usual majority.

Fusion between the democrats, populists, prohibitionists and silver republicans has been consummated in Michigan, the result of which will give the state the democratic candidate by not less than 30,000 majority.

A poll from Iowa shows that state to be safe by 25,000 democratic majority. In the agricultural counties from 30 to 30 per cent of the republican votes will be cast for Bryan.

The most remarkable news comes from Ohio. A careful democratic poll has been made of that state and our people declare that Mr. Bryan will carry it by no less than 25,000 majority. This seems a remarkable statement, yet the democratic complete poll has been made of every county in the state with this result.

Minnesota is now conceded to the democrats by the republican campaign managers.

The republican managers are undoubtedly on the run. Not one word of encouragement has been given out from their headquarters in the past two weeks.

headquarters have received none. On the other hand the polls they have endeavored to make from the middle western states are all against them. Their only hope is that they can buy these states.

It is possible that we will lose Indiana. Some of the democrats in that state are disposed to trade off the national ticket for the state ticket. The completion for Indiana are as serious as those

THEY HAVE SACRIFICED HIM

But the Nominee for Vice President Is Biding His Time.

A GREAT SPLIT IN THE PARTY

The Georgian Says that His Retirement Would Defeat Bryan—Has Been Urged To Lead Revolt.

What is Hon. Thomas E. Watson going to do?

Does he intend to withdraw from the national ticket as a candidate for vice president or will he run on to the end?

Mr. Watson talks in enigmas and very few of them at that. More can be ascertained from him than he does mean say than from his laconic utterances. He is playing a game and he is looking ahead just four years. He sees no chance of winning this year, but he is getting in position to shoot in 1900.

The vice presidential nominee from Georgia is not saying much, but he is mighty busy on the political wood pile. And there will be fireworks among the populists in the years to come, and Senator Marion Butler, Allen and the rest of them have due notice, and it is their own fault if they do not act accordingly.

There is going to be the biggest kind of a split in the populist ranks. It almost came at St. Louis. The westerners wanted to endorse Bryan and Sewall. The southerners wanted a ticket exclusively their own. There the factions fought and threatened the middle of the road men declaring that they would bolt before they would endorse Bryan and Sewall. Marion Butler, of North Carolina, said that he would walk out of the convention with his ninety votes unless a southern man was placed on the national ticket. He wanted a North Carolina populist nominated. But the Georgians did some clever political work and they made the convention come to Tom Watson, of the county of McDuffie.

Was a Bitter Pill.

That was a bitter pill to the western populists, but they accepted the situation and the convention adjourned. Now the Watsonians charge that there was a cabal formed against the Georgian and that treachery began at the very hour of the adjournment. He is the place to get the truth. The reason that the western men were for Bryan and Sewall from the start is apparent. In the west the populists are numerically strong and they were willing to give their votes to democratic electors.

Bryan could get 30 per cent of the votes for themselves for the state office. Here in the south the populists are in the minority, hence their desire to get a share of the electors. The populists knew that the democrats would not fuse on the local office and without fusion there could be no fusion. Mr. Watson's only chance was in the hands of Marion Butler, Allen and the other leaders who were expected by Mr. Watson to stand up to him and demand good terms for him in the states which the populists controlled. But when it came to a trading time, the westerners were thousands of office hungry populists who demanded that in the trading it should be expressly stipulated in the bond that the democrats would vote for the populists in the state and county elections, while the populists would vote for the Bryan and Sewall electors.

Calls It Treachery.

Mr. Watson calls it treachery. He says that he has been traded off for everything from governor down to coroner. They just swapped him around like boys trading knives and he is sore over it. He is going to get even, too, or try it, and he will devote the next four years assiduously to the contract. The populist politicians having thrown him overboard, Mr. Watson is getting things in shape to unload the populists. He is planning to stand in with the masses of his party for the state offices and classes in the populist party, too. Thomas E. Watson sees in his mind a time coming when the populist party or what remains of it will be flocking around him with Butler and his conferees flocking by themselves. A bitter fight is on between the two factions. Butler, who was an original middle of the road populist, has gone over to the fusionists and it remains to be seen which side will whip.

Tom Watson Talks.

Early yesterday morning Mr. Watson left the Kimball house, where he had spent the night, and took the train for McDonough, where he was to speak. Chairman John Cunningham took breakfast with him. At the train Mr. Watson was asked point blank if there was any truth in the report that he intended to withdraw from the national ticket.

At first he would not give a reply, remarking that he did not want to discuss the subject. On being pressed, he asked: "What do you think would be the effect of my withdrawal?"

"Perhaps it would elect Bryan and Sewall," was suggested.

Of course Mr. Watson's yearning to make votes for Mr. Sewall is not misanthropic, but it is.

"Don't you believe it," said Mr. Watson. "The populists are marching and they would vote for McKinley or stay at home and not vote at all, which would defeat Bryan."

"Is it not a fact that the western populists are for Sewall?"

"It is not. When I was in the west men came to me all the time and begged me to lead a revolt against the politicians, who they said had betrayed them and me. The populists wanted fairer treatment on the electoral ticket.

"I had all I could do to raise the populists of Georgia to the point of accepting Mr. Bryan. Didn't they at first cry that they had been sold out? Then they were gradually brought to the point where they were willing to accept Bryan and Sewall, but it was hard work. I could not withdraw now in favor of Sewall, and to quietly get off would hurt Bryan far more than it would help Sewall."

Mr. Watson would not discuss his treatment by his associates, but his feelings on the question were known by those who are intimate with him. One of these said yesterday that Mr. Watson had known of the treachery from the first, but had decided not to discuss it publicly, but he would go along and settle up that score later.

Chairman John Cunningham said in reference to Mr. Watson's withdrawal: "I do not believe that he will retreat. When he consented for his friends to put him in nomination, it was as he stated in public, to save the party from a split. He was patriotic and he has been consistent all along. All of his utterances and writings have been on the line of service to the party. The politicians have treated him badly, but the people are with him. I believe that he will remain in the race to the end."

There is very little of significance in this week's People's Party Paper. The only editorial on the subject of fusion is the following:

"Attempts have been made to show that Mr. Watson favored fusion in the state of Indiana."

"It is not correct. Mr. Watson took the position at the beginning of the campaign that no populist could consistently endorse a single elector any more than he could vote for a Hobart elector."

He filed with Chairman Butler a written protest against Mr. Butler's fusion policy. Mr. Butler has ignored Mr. Watson's protest and gone steadily forward on his own line."

Mr. Watson's position is now what it was when the Georgia state convention met. He is for a straight middle of the road ticket. In no other way can the democratic majority be forced to abide by the St. Louis contract."

In a letter to The New York World a few days ago Mr. Watson said:

"If McKinley is elected the responsibility will forever rest upon those managers who had it in the power to control by fair means 2,000,000 votes and who lost them by violating the terms of the compact."

The writer of this has stood loyally by Bryan throughout the campaign and will continue to do so, and he has no personal desire to see him elected that he will not put the weak place in the platform for it to be strengthened."

Mr. Chairman Jones can do it, is under implied contract to do it, and he will do it. Mr. Bryan's sake, lose no time in doing it."

Speaking of Mr. Sewall, the populist organ says:

"He puts the 'gold clause' in all his contracts, and thus says the silver campaign open to the assaults of the republicans."

"He appears much of a McKinleyite on the money question as he is on the tariff, railroad and national bank question."

"Yet this is the sort of man 'fusion' populists vote for."

Of Kolb's advice to the Alabama Bryan and Watson electors to come down and work for Bryan and Sewall, Mr. Cunningham said: "Kolb was sure that he would get his own delegation at the St. Louis convention. I was there and I know that he was repudiated by his own people. His advice cuts no figure."

The populist leaders say that the more the democrats criticize Watson for opposing fusion, the more they make the party at Bryan. The Watson people all feel that he has been outrageously treated by the other politicians and will not for a moment consider the thought of fusing with the western populist politicians knew what their own people preferred when it came to trading offices.

Mr. Watson spoke at McDonough yesterday and returned to Atlanta last night. He speaks at Barnesville today.

Chicago, Ill., October 2.—George F. Washburn, chairman of the Chicago branch of the people's party national executive committee, was asked this afternoon by a reporter for the United Associated Press what he had to say in regard to the report from Atlanta to the effect that Mr. Watson was withdrawing as a candidate for the vice presidency. He said:

"I can brand it as another campaign lie. It is a newspaper sensation sprung in the absence of encouraging news from the Atlanta election of the election next week. I received a telegram and a letter from Mr. Watson this morning which made no reference to this press report, but on the contrary, referred to his tour through the west, which he will make before the state party campaign. He will remain our candidate to the end."

He is on his way to Washington, where he will lay his case before the state department. He states that he will make a claim for $10,000 damages.

COLONEL N. J. HAMMOND SPEAKS

Colonel Hammond stated that on September 18, 1936, he had replied to Mr. Hill, stating that when asked for an interview on the subject of prohibition, begu to much he had already business to talk on the subject, good furnished the views of Bishop Haytime he furnished; but that at the time of the interview, because of the article mentioned, he was abused Dr. Feibell, of whom he was associated on the general grounds of the university, and was all that he thought it better that he should say nothing about Dr. Pelton, for that was useless, but since to publish that was of that paper as related to prohibition.

Owe Him the Data

In that letter Mr. Hammond further gave of the matter. He said that he desired to call attention to the political significance of Mrs. Pelton's letter.

Mrs. Pelton's Letter.

He said, after stating that "Bishop Haywood was not himself for many years before he died," Mrs. Pelton thought proper to say the following:

I deem it crucial to make a bishop appear antagonistic to his lifelong creed in favor of temperance by bringing this unfortunate publication to public notice at this time.

The North Georgia conference, at Elton, in December, 1888, pledged its ministry not its membership, to vote for the Bush bill and for anti-barroom legislation.

How the Methodist ministers who are ear's," and unto GOD the things which men do," after that interview of November, 1885, that Bishop Haygood preached the gospel from the Atlantic to the Golden Gate on the Pacific slope, had the bishopric of his church forced upon him by the duty of a man of God to go to a gathering here spoken in favor of temperance, and, in the instance had intimated that preference for local option over state prohibition was in any way inconsistent with the duty of a minister of the gospel. He was elected to the church, but left everybody understand that local option as a means of destroying the liquor evil was in his opinion preferable to all other remedies. "Who can believe from this record," asked Colonel Hammond, "that were Bishop

"It was after that interview of November 18, 1892, that the great sea of the gospel from the Atlantic to the golden gate on the Pacific slope, had the bishopric of his church forced upon him by the great majority of the bishops, who were where spoke in favor of temperance, and yet in no instance had intimated that a prohibition was in any way inconsistent with the duty of a minister of the gospel or a member of the church, but left everybody free to follow his own conscience in the matter of destroying the liquor evil, was, in his opinion, preferable to all other remedies."

"The next day, after the conference, he asked Mr. Hammond, 'that were Bishop Haygood alive and here tonight he would not say that the effort to make state prohibition, the populist platform of St. Louis and all the errors and vagaries of ...calling on A. E. Buck to bring his following as additional votes against the resolution. He said that he was not so strongly won in itself, but such a wrong as that no Georgian ought to yield to, even though his opposition to it might make him unpopular.

"Every man in this country must vote for himself. That he may do that, he must first know himself; and he who fails to know himself, fails to know his neighbor to be right, simply because some neighbor or neighbors think he is wrong, is a moral ignoramus. He who, to carry what he thinks is right, will vote against the neighbor whom he thinks wrong and dangerous political allies is walking on dangerous ground to say the least. Mrs. Pelton said that she had heard the same question, 'Why unfortunate?' question 'Why unfortunate?' Why inopportune, when church members they alter into this or that political party? What is more opportune than to call from the past the utterance of that great bishop to denounce the prostitution of the church to the flesh and make it instead of the saviour of souls, a peddler of party politics?

"Its quotation at this time may have been unfortunate, but only for the Wrights themselves. How it hurts them is shown by the howling."

Went Outside Their Party.

This explanation finished, Colonel Hammond turned his attention for a few minutes to the populist ticket and the delegates who had been elected to it. He then announced all through their party, said he, that he could not find a man in their ranks in whom they had enough confidence to place

WAS ALMOST STARVED

Sad Case of a Swede Found in the Woods Yesterday.

NO FOOD FOR TWO DAYS

The Man Had Crawled Into a Hole and Was Thought to Be Dead.

Living in the woods near Little Tyrol, on Ponce de Leon avenue, in the last throes of starvation and disease, a middle-aged white man was found in a dying condition yesterday afternoon.

He gives his name as Andrew Johnson, and he is a Swede. He talks little English, but he has been in this country only a short while.

The rescue was timely. The man had been lying on the ground two days and two nights, unable to move. His presence in the word place is mysterious. How he happened to wander there is unknown. John was seen last Wednesday afternoon by some children in the neighborhood of Ponce de Leon circle, hobbling across the thoroughfare. He made his way feebly across the wide avenue and disappeared through Little Tyrol.

Beyond this retreat is a woody pasture owned by Colonel W. A. Hemphill. In a deep ravine, where the cattle graze, is the opening of a large sewer. It was at the mouth of this hole that the dying man was found by children who happened to be passing there yesterday afternoon.

Reported to the Authorities.

The presence of the man in the woods was reported to Mr. Ed. Peters, who communicates with Chief Connolly, of the police department. It was about 10 o'clock yesterday afternoon that the ambulance and Officer Connolly started toward the pasture.

When the officer approached the Swede a horrible sight met his eyes. A thin form of what had once been a vigorous man lay on the ground, wasted by disease and hunger. He was unconscious. Feebly opening his eyes he signaled to the officer to get him a drink, and swallowed the water as poured to be in a dying condition. The trail form was lifted to a stretcher and carried to the ambulance. In a short while he arrived at the hospital, where the physicians applied restoratives. Last night the Swede rallied and gave his name and a part of his history. He stated he had been in the woods two days and nights, but would not give his address or the whereabouts of his relatives. He is a stranger here, and his identity is a mystery.

The hospital physicians state the man is suffering from malaria fever. While his condition is precarious, yet there is a chance for his recovery.

He seems to have been the victim of a cruel fate, wandering over the country without money and friends. It is probable he had nothing to eat or drink while the whole time he was in the woods. He is respectably dressed and does not have the appearance of being a tramp. No papers were found on his person to help solve the mystery of his identification.

TROOPS BREAK CAMP.

Uncle Sam's Soldiers Are Now En Route Home from Waco.

The United States regulars, who have been for the past month at Waco practicing on the range, are expected home either on next Tuesday or Wednesday. They started yesterday morning and will take five days to make the trip, but it is not known whether or not they will march on Sunday. If they do it will be Wednesday before they reach home. The march was the intention of the officers to break camp on last Wednesday, but at the last moment it was decided to remain a few days longer. Yesterday a heavy rain fell, and the march was postponed. The march was made at the post and he said that the soldiers had started that morning and that all was well. ## WARDE IN "KING LEAR."

Shakespeare's Play Given a Magnificent Production at the Grand.

Frederick Ward comes to us this year with an elaborate production of a Shakespearean masterpiece with which very few of the theatergoers of the present generation are familiar.

"King Lear" is one of the plays which has within the last fifteen years seen very few productions. The principal reason for this, in my opinion, lies in the fact that it is a play which is not only a tragedy, but a tragedy of the heart. It is a play which is not only a tragedy, but a tragedy of the heart. It is a play which is not only a tragedy, but a tragedy of the heart.

THE ERA OF BUTTONS IS ON US.

This is the day of the reign of the button—not the campaign button, but the conversational button, the inquiring button, the in-lane button, the impermanent button. The button rules the day. Buttons on coats, on store counters, on street corners, in windows—but everywhere every kind, and in the main, the sentiments are very rash.

The button flend is almost as numerous as the population of the country. Ask a man a question, he answers it by turning his button on you. Start to tell him a story and he will flash a lettered disc on you telling you, "I've heard it before." Ask a friend to lend you a book and he will point to the button on his lapel which says, "I've heard it before."

Everybody is wearing a button or buttons. The fronts of some enterprising men are crowded with them. Even the young ladies are among the flenders. One of the favorites with them is directed at the young man who is disposed to stay too long. It says: "Here's your hat; what's your hurry?"

The money question and the presidential election have been the combined cause of throwing the country into this most violent craze.

The craze started with the pictorial buttons of the different candidates and they are got up in thousands of different styles. Business houses, breweries, cigarette manufacturers and all kinds of patent medicines rapidly followed suit until now there are buttons bearing the names of the candidates and saying known to the English tongue. It does not stop with the English language, but hundreds of them are got out in Dutch, French and all the languages.

The most common button is one that calls for "Three beers." Every man you meet now has one or more buttons in the lapel of his coat and if the little button is not in sight, he is apt to throw back his head and say to his vest you will see staring you in the face the inscription, "I've heard that before" or "What a lie."

"It never touched me" and "Mamma told me not to" are two favorites with the girls.

If the fad does not stop soon there will soon be a race of people in this country speaking in button language. As it is now, if a man's chest was large enough he must cover it with buttons having questions and replies written on them and get along as well as any one by simply pointing to the desired button. They bear inscriptions asking all the questions of the day: "It's hot enough for you?" "Have a drink?" "How are you?" "Where are you going?" "What's the hotel bill?" and a thousand other questions.

There are just as many buttons that contain answers as contain questions. Some of them have "Yes" or "No" on them, others are more elaborate, going in for "I will not," "I don't care," "I look like a fool" and many other answers pertinent and impertinent.

The mechanical button is also in evidence. One very popular one is the face of either one of the presidential candidates, or a hole in the month from which a small stream of water is made to shoot by the pressure of a rubber band.

Another political button of great popularity, especially with traveling men is the revolving button. It contains the picture of all the candidates. McKinley and Hobart may be shown, and by simply turning it Bryan and Sewall will appear; then Bryan and Watson, and even Palmer and Buckner. For a man who is selling goods in every community the usefulness of this button may readily be seen.

Many people are making collections of buttons, and it does not take long to accumulate a large and varied assortment. There are at least fifty different buttons in this button collection, and it is quite interesting to look them over.

HE FELL FROM GRACE

J. P. Bailey, a Minister, Locked in the Station House Thursday Night.

WAS DRUNK ON THE STREET

Sent to the Stockade and Released. Was Once a Co-worker with Evangelist Moody.

J. P. Bailey, a young preacher about twenty-three years of age, has fallen from grace. He was arrested Thursday night and locked in the station house on the charge of being drunk on the streets. He had imbibed decidedly too much booze and his religion had gone glimmering.

Bailey was once an evangelist of some prominence. Several years ago he was associated with the great Moody and was graduated from Northfield college, in Massachusetts. Although his apparel was rather untidy from his debauch, yet he bears the characteristics of an educated gentleman, and is evidently of a good family.

The erstwhile evangelist has made extensive tours in Europe and South America preaching the gospel, and shows favorable newspaper notices from several northern cities where he has preached. He is a personal friend of Dr. W. W. Landrum, pastor of the First Baptist church of this city, and bears letters of recommendation from several prominent ministers.

Bailey came to Atlanta from Toledo Friday morning. Fortune has not favored him here lately, and he has been despondent. Friday night he went into a hole and drank, and he thought he would drown his trouble in the cup. He, therefore, entered a saloon, and took three drinks. In a short while he was maudlin drunk, and falling into the arms of a policeman was consigned to a gloomy cell at the station house.

Bailey never came to his senses until yesterday morning, when he told the authorities his history. He was exceedingly despondent, and threatened to commit suicide if sent to the stockade for four days.

Tried Before the Recorder.

Yesterday afternoon Bailey was tried in the recorder's court and pleaded guilty to the charge of being drunk. He was sentenced to the stockade for four days. He asked for mercy, but Judge Callahan told him to wait for four days.

He was placed in the prison van with the motley crowd of prisoners, and about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon arrived at the stockade. Shackles were placed on his wrists, and he was taken to his cell. He was, however, not so much as he would have to work out his sentence.

But there was a citizen in Atlanta who had heard of the hapless minister's unfortunate predicament, and decided to pay his fine. It was the well-known attorney, Dr. L. L. Leland, who, having no other means to the station house, and Bailey, much to his joy, was released.

Last night the young man was very sorry over his experience. He cannot account for having touched the whiskey, and states he will never do so any more.

POPULAR YOUNG LADY DEAD.

Miss Lucile Phelps Passed Away Yesterday After a Lingerin Illness.

After a lingering illness Miss Lucile Phelps died at the Talmage house yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

She was the only daughter of Captain W. H. Phelps, and was very popular with the young people of the city. She was a devoted Christian and until her illness attended church regularly. She had reached the age of twenty-one. Her remains will be taken to Columbus this afternoon, at which place the interment will occur.

A CALL TO ATLANTA.

Rev. William L. Githens Called to the West End Episcopal Church.

The congregation of the Church of the Incarnation, the Episcopal church in West End, has called Rev. William L. Githens, of Griffin, and he will be here next Sunday and occupy the pulpit of his new charge.

The church of the Incarnation was established in West End a few years ago, its first regular pastor being Rev. R. W. Black, who went from here to Athens.

During the past year the congregation has erected a beautiful stone structure on Lee street at a cost of about $5,000.

Dr. Githens is one of the ablest of the Episcopal ministers of the state and is very popular with his Griffin congregation.

A new school building, modern in design and convenient in its arrangement, will be built in Battle Hill district by the county board of education.

The plans and specifications of the new building have been completed and work will begin next week. The board of education expects the building to be completed by the new year.

The residents of Battle Hill district have been agitating the question of a new school building for quite a while, claiming the present building was not suited for school purposes. Much complaint had reached the board of education on this account and the movement to secure the new building has been on foot several weeks.

On account of the proximity of Battle Hill district to the city, it has been living in the community who do business in the city, the action of the board in agreeing to erect the schoolhouse will be a great convenience.

The building, when completed, will probably be one of the handsomest country schools in the state, being located outside the corporate limits of cities and towns. The building has been adapted in many eastern states on account of the convenience of the location.

The board of education has been desirous of securing the best possible schoolhouse for the district and the new building will be a great improvement.

One of the main objects of the board of education in securing this plan was because it afforded proper ventilation and light. The arrangements of the windows was made with a special view toward securing a soft light that would fall at a proper angle across the desks of the pupils.

The building will be of lumber, but the plan affords a number of opportunities for unique decorations and scroll work. The location of the proposed building is excellent, as it commands a view of Atlanta and can be seen for miles around. The building committee will cost $2,000. These figures are said to include the modern school desk and all the necessary furniture of the schoolroom.

The residents of Battle Hill district are to be commended for the efforts put forth to secure the building," said County School Commissioner Githens yesterday in speaking of the new building. "It shows that the people of the county are awake to the urgent need of better schools and more comfortable buildings. It has been endeavoring to awaken this interest; the state school commissioner has been doing his utmost on the same line and it is pleasant to know that our work has not been without results."

"I am glad to see the people who live in the country districts anxious to secure better school facilities. It is the purpose of the county board of education to give the people all the facilities possible in order to advance their education. We will endeavor to give them the best possible schoolhouse and we are encouraged to believe that we will meet with good success."

"Not only the people of Battle Hill district, but many other country districts have been asking for better school buildings and we hope to be able in the near future to make many improvements in the system that is now in vogue. We will endeavor to give them the best possible schoolhouse and we are encouraged to believe that we will meet with good success."

Work on the Battle Hill school building was commenced next week and the school will open January 1st.

He Stole a Watch.

Bob Stephens, a negro man, was bound over to the city criminal court yesterday by Justice Poute on the charge of larceny from the house. It seems that Stephens had stolen a watch from the home of a jeweler, J. R. Russell, and stole a watch from the safe. This happened about a month ago and the police have been on the lookout for him ever since, but he has not been captured until a few days ago. His bond was fixed at $100, which he failed to make.

Death of Wade Hampton.

Mr. Wade Hampton, a well-known and popular young man of this city, died yesterday morning at 3 o'clock at the home of his sister, Mrs. Mackey, 20 East Hill street. The funeral services will be held at the residence this morning at 10 o'clock, after which the remains will be taken to Athens, Ga., at which place the interment will occur.

Many Revenue Prisoners.

As the fall term of the United States court draws near the revenue prisoners are brought in every day and there are now a large number of them confined in Fulton county jail. They come in on the late trains every afternoon and are at once taken to the jail.

To Supreme Court.

Joe Allen, who has been sent to the penitentiary yesterday, will serve his sentence, but on a writ of habeas corpus he will be held at the jail and his case will go before the supreme court.
